What is this study about?

This research study is being done to evaluate the impact the iPad2 has on student learning, engagement and motivation in the classroom. It also will evaluate the impact the iPad2 has on teacher efficiency, and effectiveness of teacher lesson planning and implementation in the classroom.

You are being asked to take part because you are a teaching member of the North Fond du Lac School District and have volunteered and been chosen by the committee to take part in the study. You have agreed to either be the test group, using iPad2s in your classroom, or the control group and chose not to use iPad2s in your classroom for the duration of the study.

Taking part in the study will take about four months from beginning to end.

What will I be asked to do if I am in this study?

If you take part in the study, you will be asked to complete surveys both at the beginning and end of the study. The surveys will ask you to evaluate the impact of iPads, or the lack of iPads, in the classroom and should take approximately 10-15 minutes of your time. As a teacher, you will also be asked to complete a daily journal that describes your lesson planning as well as if or how you used the iPad. You will be asked to reflect on how the iPad did or did not impact your teaching preparation, lesson planning, and any observations you had from using or not using the iPad. This daily journal reflection should take no more than 5-10 minutes of your time. Lastly, by agreeing to participate in this study you will also be asked to provide 10-15 minutes of class time to allow your students time to complete their surveys.

There is no direct benefit to you from being in this study. However, by participating in the study, the information you provide will help inform the school board, administration and teachers of North Fond du Lac to determine the best course of action for the students and staff related to future technology implementation. Results from the study will help determine if the NFDL school district should pursue funding for additional iPads for staff and students to use with more grades / classrooms. The information gathered in this study may also help other school districts in Wisconsin and elsewhere in determining the implementation of iPads in education.

Are there any risks to me if I am in this study?
